

WENTWORTH CASTLE

This elegant and picturesque home is now for sale!

The boldness of a castle. The beauty of the mountain wilds. Classic Victorian style. There are few places in the northeast that offer this combination of history, natural wonder, and elegance.

Built by General Marshall C. Wentworth and his wife, Georgia, in 1891 as a summer retreat and wedding present, the castle today continues its 125-year tradition of providing romance, recreation and escape. Within minutes of its gates, you'll find ski areas, lakes, hiking trails and shops. Inside, you'll find all the refined luxury and comfort of a Victorian manor home with modern conveniences.

Imagine yourself crossing Jackson's fabled covered bridge in a horse-drawn carriage. Minutes later you arrive at the guardian gates to a private estate, with towering spruce and maple standing at attention, offering their shelter and protection. On the horizon, peaks of stately mountain ranges render a portrait of transcendent calm, while across the way, the rushing waters of Jackson Falls lend a symphony unlike any other. Within moments, you know you've found it: the place where your renewal can begin.

The landscape blends into the verdant forest all around. On sunny days, see how the castle walls, built of stone culled from the Wildcat and Ellis Rivers, shimmer in a wealth of gold and earthen tones. Take in the hilltop view, where vistas of evergreen and the gables of Jackson Village sit side by side.

Stroll around, or sit in one of several peaceful venues on the grounds. Either way, you'll enjoy a feast of the senses rivaled only by what you'll experience inside.

Entering the home, you'll find yourself steeped in the historic charms of old world craftsmanship. Polished, carved oak abounds in the front entryway and throughout the first floor's wainscoting. The living room to the left of the entry hall transports you to a scene laid out in any Charles Dickens novel. The sitting and dining rooms to the right of the entry hall reveal a mirrored fireplace mantle in the first, and intricate pilasters in the latter exhibiting eclectic 19th century taste with virtually every fireplace throughout the home representative of a different style.

Upstairs, each of the six bedrooms demonstrate the attention to detail. Two master suites on the second floor offer room for king-sized beds and full private bathrooms, and boasting elegant sitting rooms. A third bedroom on that floor also contains a private bath with shower. A floor above, the two turret bedrooms will have you feeling like you are in the clouds with their remarkable and unique ceilings and spectacular window views. The largest third floor room was originally two bedrooms, now joined with a beautiful architecturally unique archway creating a space that is private and whimsical for use as a bedroom, study, den or play room.
